For participants who have presented their papers in onsite or online conferences and have made revisions based on input during discussion sessions in conference sessions, they can upload their full papers in the FULL PAPER menu, make sure the full paper you write meets the template, and scope according to the type of publication you are writing.

If you want, you can download the full paper template via our website according to the type of publication you want. The full paper will go through a review process for the suitability of the template and scope by our editorial team.

If the paper does not match the template and scope, we will provide input to revise the full paper. This policy minimizes obstacles when the full paper is uploaded to the IOP or journal submission page.
